MEMORANDUM FOR RECORD

SUBJECT: IG Survey of the Office of Personnel

- 1. We approach this survey on the assumption that top CIA management has made two basic decisions:
- a. The Office of Personnel is essentially a staff element which develops personnel policies and provides certain technical and other services of common concern to other CIA components, but has rather well defined and limited responsibilities for the management of personnel outside its own office.
- b. Personnel management is a function of command. For example, the four deputy directors have the primary responsibility for the management and career development of people assigned to them.
- 2. We propose to concentrate on the Office of Personnel, not the management of people by the four deputy directors.
- 3. We propose to try and find answers to the following basic questions:
- a. How well does the Office of Personnel do its job? This will include a survey of how well the office manages its own people and operations, as well as how it serves other components.
- b. Are changes indicated which will increase the efficiency of the Office of Personnel or reduce personnel costs?
- c. What are CIA's principal personnel problems and what is CIA doing about them?
- 4. We propose, to the extent practicable, to talk to everyone in the Office of Personnel, to a cross section of the principal users of people, to personnel careerists in the deputy directorates, a cross section of CTA components who work closely with the Office of Personnel (Security, Medical, Training). We believe it is important to talk to outside consultants and sources of new people, such as University Associates, for example.

- 5. If we find reason to question this approach or these assumptions in the course of the survey, we will come back for advice. We would like to begin immediately, have a draft report ready for your review in March and the final report in the hands of the DD/S by 1 April.
- 6. A memo assigning specific jobs to the team members is attached. You may or may not want to show this detailed paper to the DD/S.
